Mackenzie Associates Recognized by Industry Leaders

The Baltimore Business Journal (BBJ) individually recognized two MacKenzie associates as 2011 Top Real Estate Professionals; J. Scott Wimbrow and Patricia "Trish" Farrell as the #8 and #14 top agents in the Baltimore commercial real estate market. The sale of Upper Chesapeake Health in Havre de Grace garnered the #20 spot on the journal's list of Largest Commercial Real Estate Deals in the Baltimore Area while the firm, which employs more than 30 brokers, was honored in the #5 spot on the BBJ largest commercial real estate firms in the Baltimore area.

The annual awards list the "best of the best" in Baltimore's Business community, highlighting companies that are the top performers in their area of expertise. The lists are researched throughout the year and culled to provide Baltimore's business community an invaluable tool in which help grow their business.

"I am proud of the associates and team members who have earned this distinction. Their hard work and commitment to helping businesses achieve their real estate goals is inspirational, particularly during this challenging business climate," said Gary T. Gill, President and CEO of MacKenzie Companies, LLC.

These honors follow on the heels of awards given to Vice President Brendan O. Gill and Senior Real Estate Advisor Meghan G. Roy who were honored by the National Association of Industrial and Office Professionals and The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, respectively. Recognized as a developing leader, Gill was among 15 professionals aged 35 and under to receive the national award earlier this fall while Roy, recognized by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation Baltimore's Finest 35 Under 35, received accolades for her work with the foundation.

"To be recognized by the Baltimore Chapters of these prestigious organizations is a testament to their commitment to the betterment of our community. Brendan and Meghan's hard work outside of the office is a credit to their character and the MacKenzie spirit," said Robert J. Aumiller, President of MacKenzie Commercial Real Estate Services, LLC.
